GET INTIMATE WITH HISTORY

Bestselling author Anna Markland transformed her love for genealogy and British history into a literary empire of more than 60 historical romance novels.

Anna's passion for digging into the past proved instrumental to the success of her writing career. The further back in time Anna went into her own genealogy research, the more she began to understand the impact the Norman Conquest had on the land of her birth. The influence the Normans had on her country's language, place names, customs and beliefs became crystal clear.

"1066 was the date in history when the decisive Battle of Hastings was fought. It was a pivotal and defining moment in the history of the whole world," Anna says. "For me, the fun and satisfaction of creating all of my historical romances comes from researching the cultural attitudes, politics, daily life, clothing, and so on of various periods. I believe in letting the characters tell their stories when they are obliged to adapt to historical events over which they often have no control."

With more than 60 books to her name, Anna has focused on many time periods for her historical romances.

Anna says, "History is truly fascinating, especially when it leads a researcher like me to exclaim with great glee, 'I never knew that!' We sometimes forget that we ourselves are making history even as we speak, and every single one of us has been molded by the historical events that have shaped our world. Every person's story is important in the tapestry of human history. We all strive to bloom where we are planted, but deep roots help."

Clash of the Tartans

A rip-roaring comedic romance set in the Highlands of Scotland

Kilty Secrets. As the chief's second son, Ewan MacKinloch resents being offered up as the sacrificial lamb in a marriage arranged to end a 300-year feud with the MacCarrons.

Kilted at the Altar. Darroch MacKeegan vows revenge when his intended bride, Isabel MacRain, fails to show up for a marriage arranged to settle the long feud between their clans.

Kilty Pleasures. Broderick Maxwell is drawn to Kyla MacKeegan from their first inauspicious meeting. But a union between a Highlander and a Lowlander would never work.

Kilty Party. Secret tunnels, benign ghosts, and ruined castles—the ingredients of a mystery. Right? Except, this is a romantic comedy.

Kilts in the Wind: An amusing and heartwarming tale of mistaken identity, a derelict windmill, and a wee lad who eats like a horse.

Kilts Ahoy! Sworn enemies, Clan MacCray and Clan Robson live within sight of each other on a clifftop in Caithness. Marshall Robson proposes to end the feud by suggesting a marriage between his elder brother and the daughter of the enemy clan—but then he meets her.
